SKORODUMOV, Gavril Ivanovich

St Petersburg 12.III.1755–12.VII.1792

Гаврила Иванович Скородумов; also Scorodomoff etc. Engraver and one of the few identified native Russian pastellists from the eighteenth century. He travelled to England and was a pupil of Bartolozzi between 1775 and 1782 (among his engravings was a plate after Gardner's Countess of Darling). On his return he became court miniaturist and portrayed many members of the imperial court.
