

TUCCHI, Domenico

Urbino 1728 – Todi 1802

Domenico di Giacomo, known as Frate Apollonio. The painter was taught drawing in Rome by Stefano Pozzi and painting by Batoni. Interested also in architecture, his main love was the art of the miniature, which he exercised at the court of Naples until, in 1766, he became a Camadolensian monk. He died 36 years later in the hermitage at Todi.

Bibliography

Carlo Grossi, Degli uomini illustri di Urbino: comentario, Urbino, 1819, p. 269, 311

Pastels

J.7282.101 Il conte Vittorio ROCCHI bambino, pstl/ppr, 33x27.5 (Pesaro, Museo Civico) ϕ

J.7282.103 Il conte Giantommaso ROCCHI bambino, pstl/ppr, 34.5x27.5 (Pesaro, Museo Civico) ϕ

